"A Renewed Understanding" - Word from General Secretary

The financial year for 2022-23 has begun and we have finished its first quarter. Budgets have been passed for the year and audits are going on for the previous one. This is a time to take stock and look forward. The FCRA renewal process has reminded all of us of our vision and mission statements and how each of our activities and initiatives must align to that original purpose.

So, looking forward, can we look at new approaches to fulfil our vision statements. Is there a perennial challenge that needs a radical solution? Is there a new perspective or understanding that we have not looked at? Do the youth and young adults of today need a more participatory approach to career decision making? There is no one answer to the above, but of late we have been challenged, as CMAI, to address various issues head on and we are trying to make a small difference with His leading.

The issue of Governance in our network has been one of the standout challenges apart from human resource crunch and finances. Historically, the missionaries started the school, church, and hospital at roughly the same time. With Independence, the whole running of these institutions fell on to the Indian Church which was looked at as the parent. But, in fact it was a sibling, having come into existence at the same time as the other institutions. A parent-child relationship is very different from a sibling relationship. This understanding might change the way we approach challenges of governance.

All the 3 institutions are under attack, either externally or internally. Sibling bonds are usually stronger when ties with the parent are cut short. A good sibling relationship will provide consistency and continuity throughout life. There is more understanding of emotional and material needs.

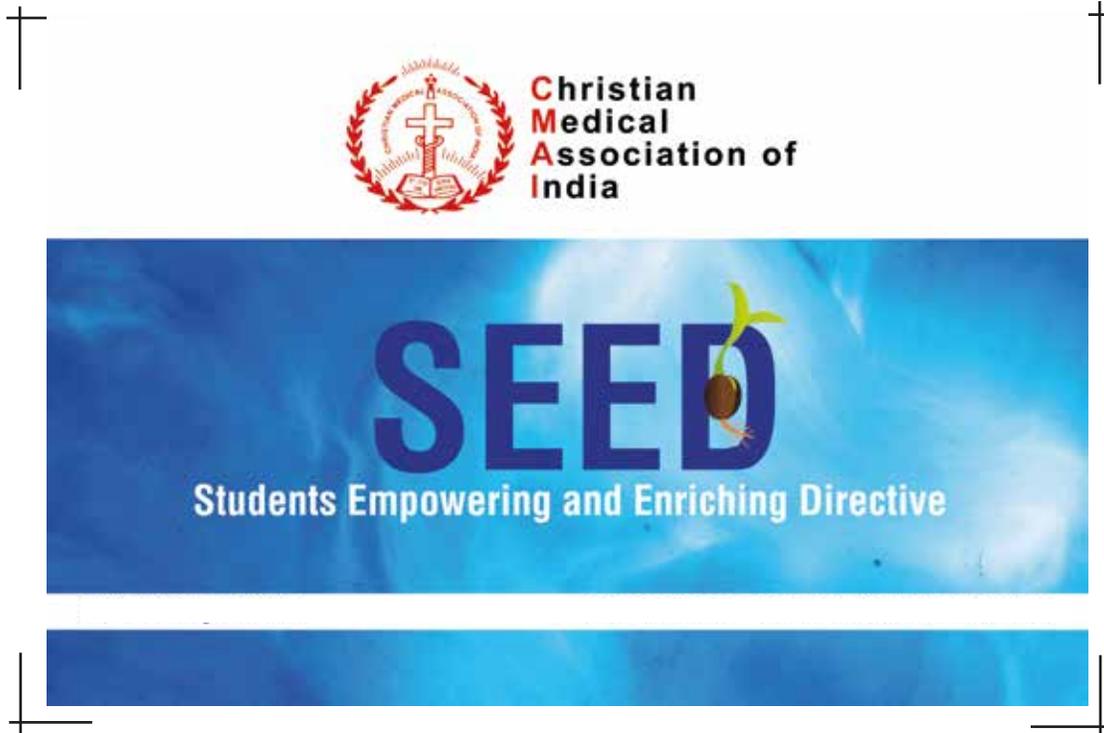

Can this governance challenge be addressed through this perspective? Will it make the much-needed difference? Will this strengthening of internal bonds influence decision making and bring down the chances of going down the wrong path?

There are many organisations in our network doing capacity building in Governance and Finance. CMAI will work with these various groups plus the church and our membership, to bring in this new perspective. The practical action points from these discussions will need to be documented and strategically disseminated to our membership.

May the good Lord direct our paths and may we lean not on our own understanding. May we seek His face in all our activities and bring Him glory.

SOWING SEEDS ONE REGION AT A TIME

~ Lyric Abraham, AHP Section

Student empowering and Enriching Directive (SEED) is an initiative from CMAI exclusively designed for students to address their current needs and challenges.

The aim of this retreat programme is to bring all health care professional students to a common platform for a time of fellowship, to provide spiritual, personal enrichment and empower them to face the challenges in life and grow holistically in right direction.

Background:- At present, there is a huge need for proper guidance for students, especially in their soft skill development that can lead to their professional success. Also, there is a Gap between CMAI and the student community.

So, there is scope for an interactive student programme that can help them to empower and enrich themselves and can motivate them for the mission.

CMAI's Student Empowering and Enriching Directive (SEED) has following objectives:

1. As the name mentions the SEED is to empower and enrich the students through soft skill training like communications skills, self-awareness, Motivation, Teamwork, Time management, Leadership skills, etc.
2. To encourage fellowship within the student community, sharing of experiences, and best practices.
3. To identify seed champions to strengthen regions and develop future leaders.
4. To give moral support and guidance to students to overcome their challenges.
5. To introduce the mission to the students and sow the seed of commitment to serving in the mission
6. To introduce CMAI to students and encourage membership

Day one of the SEED program began with an opening prayer followed by praise and worship led by the students. A brief introduction to SEED program was given by Mr. Lyric Abraham from CMAI. Inauguration of the SEED program by Rt. Bishop Andrew B Rathod, CNI, Nagpur, with lighting lamp. Also, the lamp was lit by Dr Vilas Shende, Director of Mure Memorial Hospital, and Ms. Aradhana Upadhyaya-Regional Sectional Secretary of AHP, CMAI, Ms. Sulekha Vk, and CMAI, Mr. Lyric Abraham, CMAI and the students. Introduction of the guests was done by Dr Joel, a welcome address from Dr Vilas Shende and followed by the inaugural address by Rev. Andrew B Rathod. The total number of participants for the program were 110. The inaugural program concluded with the vote of thanks by Ms Sanskruti and the closing prayers and Benediction by Rt. Rev. Andrew B Rathod.

During the interactive session, Mr. Lyric Abraham gave an overview of CMAI and why SEED programmes are held. Students also shared their expectations for the programme. During this session, students were divided into four groups and the workshop's rules and regulations were briefly explained to them. The workshop included six sessions designed to help students improve their soft skills, communication skills, self-awareness, motivation, teamwork, Discipline time management, and leadership abilities.

The second day of the programme began with praise and worship led by the students. Students shared their learning from the first day of the programme prior to the session. Dr. Sonal Paliwal, Assistant Professor – Department of Psychology at Hislop College in Nagpur, served as the program's resource person for the last two sessions on "Communication" and "Social Media Addiction". The Valedictory Program, was led by the students, including participation certificates distribution as well as prize distribution and cultural performances. Ms Sanskruti gave a vote of appreciation to all of the attendees.

There is a huge need for proper guidance of the students, especially in their soft skill development that can lead to their professional success. Also, there is a gap between CMAI and the student community. CMAI's the Student Empowering and Enriching Directive (SEED) programme is assisting students in developing their leadership skills and commitment to their work.

CELEBRATE THE LIFE AND SERVICES OF NURSES ~ Shimy Mathew, Nurses League

SO, LET'S CELEBRATE LIFE IN ITS FULLNESS ALONGSIDE LIVING WITH DIGNITY AND PROMOTING DIGNITY OF OTHERS

This year National Council of Churches in India, Evangelical Nurses Fellowship of India and Christian Medical Association of India came together to celebrate the life and services of nurses. We chose the theme "Celebrating life: Upholding the Dignity of Nurses". A separate report is shared in this issue. As nurses we need to stand up for our own dignity and dignity of our fellow nurses.

We need to promote professional competence which is important to as we stand for the dignity of nurses. We need to also promote healthy working environment and efficient team management to maintain dignity of nurses. Fair remunerations and recognition of contribution of nurses in patient care, education and health care overall is important for promoting dignity of nurses. The Nurse Leaders have a major role in all these aspects and have a responsibility to help the nurses working with them to stand for their dignity and promote the same as they work with multi-disciplinary teams.

So, let's celebrate life in its fullness alongside living with dignity and promoting dignity of others.

We are all gearing up for the National Conference planned in November. This year we will have combined National Conferences of all five sections. So requesting all local units to start fund raising and come prepared with programmes and participate with enthusiasm in the conference.

Wishing you all God's blessings as you care for your patients, students and nurses in different capacities and roles that has been entrusted to you.

Let us know if we can help you in any way to accomplish your service. Nurses League can help with trainings and consultancies in any areas related to Nursing practice and education.

OVERVIEW OF THE DRAFT REGISTERED MEDICAL PRACTITIONER (PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT) REGULATIONS, 2022

~ Dr Abhijeet Sangma, Doctors' Section

To address a wide variety of concerns of Registered Medical Practitioners (RMPs), the Ethics and Medical Registration Board (EMRB) of the National Medical Commission published the draft "National Medical Commission, Registered Medical Practitioner (Professional Conduct) Regulations, 2022" which also includes the Telemedicine Practice Guidelines version 2 for RMPs on May 23.

The NMC's proposed regulations define the code of conduct for RMPs, some of which might significantly alter how doctors conduct in-person consultations and teleconsultations.

(i) RMPs who are registered under the NMC Act, 2019, are permitted to use the prefix "Med Dr" for "Medical Doctor" before their names.

(ii) A RMP may not refer to themselves as a clinical specialist unless they have received training and certification in that particular area of contemporary medicine from the NMC.

(iii) To ensure patient and public clarity, RMPs with foreign medical degrees who are applying for practise registration after passing the National Exit Test (NEXT) and Foreign Medical Graduate Examination (FMGE) must utilise prefixes and suffixes that have been approved by the NMC.

(iv) Additionally, it prohibits RMPs (registered medical practitioners under NMC) from using more than one medical system. RMPs are not permitted to practise two different medical systems at once.

(v) Continuous professional development (CPD) has replaced Continuing Medical Education or CME. CPD and the connection of RMP CPD points to licence renewal by the EMRB or SMC have also been given a lot of emphasis.

(vi) If an RMP has moved their place of employment or home, should notify the State Medical Council of the state in which they desire to practise and apply for a licence to do so. The state will have to manda torily provide license to practice charging appropriate fee within 7 days.

(vii) If the fees recommended by the RMP earlier are not paid, the RMP may refuse to continue treating the patient (not applicable to doctors in government service or emergencies).

(viii) Neither directly nor indirectly, nor as a member of a group of RMPs, institutes, organisations, or hospitals, an RMP may solicit patients.

(ix) Any act of dividing, transferring, assigning, subordination, rebating, splitting, or refunding of any price for diagnostic, scanning, medical, surgical, or other treatment is prohibited, whether it is done directly or indirectly.

(x) Every self-employed RMP must fully digitise patient records within three years of the date the regulations were published, in strict accordance with all applicable laws of India and in accordance with the proforma established by NMC, in addition to obligations placed on healthcare institutions.

(xi) Euthanasia practise is being considered an unethical behaviour. However, in specific circumstances, the Transplantation of Human Organ Act, 1994's regulations must be followed when deciding whether to remove life-supporting equipment or interventions even after brain dead.

(xii) RMP should not refuse to participate in or carry out sterility, birth control, circumcision, or medical termination of pregnancy when there is a medical indication solely on the basis of religious beliefs.

(xiii) The Telemedicine Practice Guidelines (TPG) has mandated that an RMP start consultations by provisioning an introduction (details of name, credentials, area of expertise), as well as the location of their affiliated medical facility. Additionally, the Draft Regulations mandate that an RMP get the patient's signature or thumbprint along with the date of the signature on the shared informed consent document. Any documentation of explicit consent, whether text, audio, video, images, or other formats, must be documented and stored by the RMPs. Additionally, the proposed regulations include a framework for informed consent.

(xiv) The primary RMP is designated as being accountable for the patient's care and coordination with the patient's remote medical team/professionals in the ethical considerations and duties imposed upon RMPs for the practise of telemedicine. The revised TPG makes clear the variety of advisory that an RMP may offer during a tele-consult and permits guidance on immunisation, physical activity, personal and household cleanliness habits, mosquito control, and other topics.

(xv) Apart from "Schedule X" medications, the RMP is now allowed to prescribe any drugs during a tele-consult under the terms of the modified TPG, depending on the type of consultation.

(xvi) It is now mandated by the modified TPG for providers of telemedicine services to create standards for referrals to emergency services.

(xvii) The Draft Regulations make it explicit that any correspondence in this respect with the patient shall be conveyed directly by the RMP and underline the prohibition against AI/ML-based counseling and prescription.

Even though the proposed rules contain several positive initiatives, some of them need clarification or further information. According to Articles 14, 19, 21, and 25 of the Indian Constitution, all citizens are entitled to the freedom to work, the freedom of conscience, and the right to practise and uphold their religious beliefs with dignity. However, some of the new guidelines in the Draft Regulation go against these rights. The 2022 Regulations also suggest adding "The Physician's Pledge" of the 2017 Geneva Declaration to the National Medical Commission Code of Medical Ethics. A medical professional must be allowed to exercise their profession with conscience and dignity, according to clause 8 of the Pledge. But the penalty and certain regulation go against the pledge.
